U. S. Farm Program May Split Bureau Confab

Division In Ranks Feared As Meeting Plans To Adjourn

Southern Delegates Want Current Wartime Price Supports for Crops

Atlantic City, N. J., Dec. 16—(AP)—The powerful American Farm Bureau federation moved into the final day of its convention today facing a possible sharp split on federal farm programs.

Its delegates were divided on an issue of future government price support aid for farm products.

Split Is Feared
Its leaders and resolutions committee sought to put over a policy statement that would prevent a division in the bureau's ranks. They realized a split could weaken the organization, long a strong force for legislation in the farmers' behalf.

Specifically, one group of delegates—largely from the south—wanted the convention to advocate current wartime price supports for major crops when supplies are large and growers vote production and marketing controls.

Another—principally from the midwestern corn belt—favored somewhat lower supports. They like the support system authorized by the Aiken-Hope law passed by the Republican-controlled 80th congress.

That law would provide somewhat lower supports than the present wartime levels.

Passing the Buck?
This, in brief, is what the resolutions committee propose:

That the convention pass the question on to the bureau's 21-member board of directors to decide later in the light of future events.

The southerners were disappointed in not getting the committee to adopt their side, but were willing to accept deferment of the issue to the board.

Midwesterners argue, in brief, that if supports are too high, farmers will produce too much and hence bring rigid controls upon themselves and possibly public discredit of all farm programs.

Aid to Greece Gets Truman Okeh, Report

Washington, Dec. 16—(AP)—Henry F. Grady, U. S. ambassador to Greece, said today President Truman is "quite in favor of continuing the whole program" of American aid to Greece.

Grady made the statement to newsmen after a talk with Mr. Truman at the White House.

The ambassador estimated that about $400,000,000 will be needed to carry on the anti-communist program during the next fiscal year, as compared with about $350,000,000 this year.

Grady's report that Mr. Truman favors continuing aid came only a few days after the president gave congress a report portraying a gloomy outlook for progress in Greece.

Don't Tamper With Jap Sentences, Court Told

Washington, Dec. 16—(AP)—The United States government pleaded with the supreme court today not to "tamper" with the international tribunal which doled out former Premier Tojo and six other Japanese war lords to death.

A brief filed in advance of today's historic war crimes arguments cited the government's "deep concern lest irreparable damage be done" if the American court "arrogates" to itself power to review the Tokyo tribunal's actions.

UN Might Suffer

Solicitor General Philip B. Perlman said any such move not only would be a blow to peaceful and judicial settlements of international disputes and "the continued growth of world law," but: "Other cooperative endeavors, such as United Nations activities, also will suffer."

The government sent Perlman back to the court today to bolster with oral arguments the views he

Arctic Weather Hampers Rescue of Nine Airmen

Westover Airforce Base, Mass., Dec. 16—(AP)—Pierce Arctic weather today threatened to delay a daring attempt to rescue nine U. S. fliers isolated on a bleak, snow-clad Greenland plateau.

Goose Bay, Labrador, reported a blinding snowstorm blanketing much of the north country as rescue equipment was assembled at Narsarsuaq, 100 miles from the stranded airmen.

Officers said weather reports were "sketchy" and it could not be determined immediately if the storm would delay the rescue mission.

Meanwhile radio communication was being maintained with the ice-cro castaways, who reported they all were in excellent health, good spirits and confident of rescue. Supplies including small heating units have been dropped to the men.

Gov, Green's Absence Is Boon to Mr. Cross

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 16—(AP)—An unusual idea that struck Lt. Gov. Hugh W. Cross when he took office eight years ago is going a long way toward paying for the education of his two children.

Cross decided to put into a special bank account the $33.33 in extra pay provided by law for each day he fills in for the governor when the chief executive is out of the state.

Cross assumed Governor Green's duties a total of 390 days, his records show, and so the plan yielded $12,998.70.

The money is coming in handy now. Hugh Cross, Jr., 21, is in his third year at the University of Illinois. Barbara, 16, is a student at a Lake Forest school.

Three Hours Debate
The high court set aside three hours for today's arguments—an hour more than customary. After listening to the debate, the justices likely will take up the cases in their regular closed conference on Saturday.

Their decision may be announced Monday or, if not then, on the court's next opinion-reading day, January 3.

The decision will affect all 25 of the top Japanese leaders convicted by the Tokyo tribunal, even though only seven appealed. Tojo is not one of the seven.

Tot Picks Own Gift

Claims He Was Wed to 14
Women and Fleeced
Them of Over $100,000

Chicago, Dec. 16—(AP)—A 60-year-old parolee from a New York prison, accused by the FBI of bigamously marrying at least 14 widows in his quest for cash, was under arrest today on a new federal charge.

George B. McSwain, chief FBI agent in Chicago, reported the parolee, Stephen Adam Wick, was taken into custody on a warrant from Buffalo, N. Y. charging him with cashing a number of fraudulent checks.

Has Over 40 Names

Wick, who has more than 40 aliases, has spent more than half his life in prisons. In addition to the bad check charge, Wick also faces charges of violating his parole and a possible life sentence as an habitual criminal, the FBI agent said.

Authorities related they did not know exactly how many women Wicks had fleeced in his check writing schemes. They said, however, he had gone through marriage ceremonies with 14 widows in various sections of the country as part of his illegal activities.

McSwain described Wick as a fast-tongued, dignified looking individual whose appearance was all that a successful business man would desire. He said the parolee's usual practice was to select a Roman Catholic woman for his victim after first ingratiating himself with religious authorities.

A $100,000 Racket

The FBI estimated Wick had fleeced his victims of more than $100,000 in the last 16 years. They said his last known bigamous marriage took place June 10, 1948, in Fort Wayne, Ind., three days after he met and wooed a Cleveland woman. As a result of that marriage, McSwain said, Wick cashed two checks totaling $880.

A technical plea of innocent was entered for Wick when he was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Edwin K. Walker on removal proceedings. The commissioner continued the case to Dec. 27, pending arrival of documents from Buffalo.

Guam Murder Clues Are Called 'No Lead'

Guam, Dec. 16—(AP)—A blood stained shirt and man's underwear were checked off as "no lead" tonight in the investigation of the sex slaying of pretty Ruth Farnsworth of San Francisco.

Guam police admitted there were no promising clues in the brutal slaying.

The 27-year-old civil service employee was dragged last Saturday night from the oriental gift shop where she worked part time. She was found unconscious Monday in the jungle, only 200 yards from the shop, and died Tuesday. Police said evidence indicated she was raped by several sex fiends, beaten and left for dead.

Lt. Cmdr. James Hackett, assistant security officer, said earlier today that two Negro soldiers, questioned in the case, had presented alibis that checked.

Big Expenditures For Highways Are Planned in State

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 16—(AP)—State highway officials today proposed to spend $197,000,000 on road construction and maintenance during the two fiscal years beginning July 1.

The total, which includes a large share of federal funds, represents an 80 per cent increase over the current two-year allotment.

Highway officials who handed the request to the state budgetary commission said $167,000,000 was earmarked for new construction. Of this amount, the federal government is expected to furnish $89,000,000.

The highway division gets its money from federal aid, state motor fuel taxes and automobile license collections.

No details were given by highway officials on what new construction is proposed except that a "substantial amount" is provided for the Congress street, Northwest and Eden superhighways in Cook county.

It's A Lot Of Lettuce

Hollywood, Dec. 16—(AP)—After all, $5,000 a week or so isn't everything, Actress Teresa Wright indicates.

(Editor's note: But it's a lot of lettuce, dearie!)

Miss Wright got fired yesterday by her boss, Movie Producer Samuel Goldwyn. Goldwyn called Miss Wright "uncooperative." She had, he said, refused to go to New York to publicize a picture in which she is co-starred.

Miss Wright said she couldn't make the trip because of ill health. She countered that she accepted the firing "without protest and in fact with relief."

"The type of contract standardized between players and producers," she said, "is, I feel, antiquated in form and abstract in concept. 'I am determined to never set my name to another one.'"

Accuse Him of Giving Chambers, Ex-Commie Agent, Secret Papers

Former High Ranking State Department
Official Is Charged on Two Perjury Counts

LATE BULLETIN

New York, Dec. 16—(AP)—Alger Hiss today pleaded innocent to a federal grand jury's charge he lied when he denied giving secret government papers to ex-communist agent Whittaker Chambers.

Hiss, 44-year-old former high-ranking policy adviser in the state department, made his plea in a firm, clear voice. Federal Judge John C. Clancy fixed Jan. 24 as the tentative date for the trial after ordering that Hiss be fingerprinted and photographed. The judge set $5,000 bail.

New York, Dec. 16—(AP)—A federal grand jury has indicted Alger Hiss for perjury, accusing him of lying when he denied he gave secret government papers to ex-Communist Agent Whittaker Chambers.

The action last night climaxed a jury probe of espionage. Hiss, 44-year-old former high-ranking policy adviser in the state department, was charged on two perjury counts. Maximum penalty on each is a $2,000 fine and five years' imprisonment.

The indictment said Hiss "unlawfully, knowingly and wilfully" swore falsely that (a) he did not slip confidential state department documents to Chambers, and (b) that he did not talk to Chambers in February and March, 1938.

Gets $20,000 a Year

Chambers is a confessed pre-war courier of red intelligence.

Prosecuting attorneys said Hiss, now on a paid leave of absence from a $20,000-a-year post as head of the Carnegie endowment for international peace, probably will be arraigned today or tomorrow.

Following his indictment, Hiss issued this statement through his attorney:

"My testimony before the grand jury was entirely truthful."

Chambers, formerly a Time magazine senior editor, first accused Hiss of supplying him with secret government data for transmittal to Russian agents in testimony before the house un-American activities committee. Hiss has made repeated denials.

The indictment came at the end of the grand jury's 18-months term.

A new panel was to be formed today, prepared to take over any unfinished work from the released jurors.

In Washington, house committee members viewed the indictment as proving the value of their investigations.

Rep. Nixon (R-Calif.), a leading member, said the indictment "vindicates the many long months of work done by our committee despite criticism from all sources from the president down."

Nixon said the committee will continue its probe of facts brought out by Chambers, who has testified he had sources other than Hiss in the government.

Goodfellow Fund Now Near $800; Need More

Donations up to date have brought the Goodfellow fund up to nearly $800, and the next few days before Christmas will undoubtedly bring the grand total to a much greater figure, but all indications are that there will not be enough to fill all the needs of the youngsters of Dixon whose parents, if any, are unable to give them much of a Christmas.

The death of a father, or sickness in the family, or just the inability of the wage earner to bring in enough to support a large number of children, are the usual causes of bleak Christmases in so many homes. The Goodfellow Committee, aided by the Service Club and the school nurses, is making every effort to make the fund stretch as far as possible and to take care of as many children as we are able to do, but when the fund is exhausted, the work will have to stop.

The firm of Roberts and Hess, local wholesalers, have donated 380 candy canes to the Goodfellow fund for distribution to Dixon youngsters.

So if you plan to join the Goodfellow campaign this year please do so at once.

Chinese Commies Near Peiping But Ancient City Calm

Reds Swarm Over the Suburbs; Capture Is Just a Matter of Hours

Peiping, Dec. 16.—(AP)—The sound of rifle fire punctuates the crisp air of Peiping today, but within the communist-encircled city's ancient walls life goes on much as usual.

The city has not fallen, although the Reds are swarming over its suburbs and rolling toward the thick arched gates.

Small Scale Fighting

The fighting appears relatively small-scale and concentrated mostly west of the city walls. Small arms fire is occasionally interspersed by mortar bursts and some light artillery which can be heard clearly throughout Peiping.

The Reds thus far have thrown only small forces into the attack, evidently reserving their main strength for an attempt to bottle up the city if Gen. Fu Tso-Yi, government commander of north China, decides to fight all the way.

The communists have pushed close enough to level cannon on the city itself—but they haven't. This has given impetus to rumors of peace talks between the Reds and General Fu.

Reports from Tientsin said Claire Chennault's China air transport company had completed the withdrawal of its personnel and dependents from that north China city. The planes did the job in a nightlong shuttle to Tsingtao.

Civilians Withdraw

Contrary to general reports, Peiping's south field was still operable this morning. The Saint Paul, a plane chartered by the Lutheran mission, landed there again and took off for Tsingtao with a load of passengers.

(In Shanghai, Chinese newspapers banner the "fall of Peiping" in extras which also proclaimed that peace talks in north China were beginning. Shanghai was wild with rumors—among them a totally unconfirmed report that President Chiang Kai-Shek had resigned.)

Immediate execution of anyone violating martial law in Peiping was proclaimed by Fu.

Chicago Jaywalker Wins an Acquittal

Chicago, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Charles Wagner, 68, won an acquittal yesterday in his trial as the first person to be charged with violating Chicago's ten-year-old jaywalking law.

His lawyer, Irwin Panter, told a municipal court jury: "If you bring in a conviction in this case, you will declare open season on pedestrians."

Wagner, a lumber salesman, was knocked down and bruised by an automobile in front of his home. Policeman Leonard Knudsen testified Dagner had been drinking and crossed the street 150 feet from a cross walk.

Wagner testified he had not tried to cross the street but had stepped into the street from the left side of a taxicab which had halted at the curb near an obstruction preventing him from leaving from the other side. He said the cab had just pulled away when an automobile struck him.

GI's Charter Planes for "Holiday Hops"

Fort Lewis, Wash., Dec. 16.—(AP)—A chance remark—the wish of a GI that he could fly home for Christmas—has snowballed into an air hit that will carry an estimated 700 soldiers east for the holidays.

The demand for chartered planes is so great, in fact, that travel agencies have had to call for help from California.

So far, 17 planes with a capacity of 26 to 50 passengers have been reserved. More probably will be needed, travel service officials said, and it is expected that within a few days they will be "crying for planes."

It was a few days before Thanksgiving that Pvt. Gerald Roberts of Peoria, Ill., was sort of thinking out loud about getting home for Christmas.

He asked a fellow GI in the 9th infantry barracks: "I wonder if 10 or 15 of the fellows around here would throw in with me and charter a plane to get us home."

He was almost overwhelmed with takers. The "10 or 15" grew to 50 and in short order the group had chartered a 60-passenger C-47 for a flight to Chicago.

The idea spread like a barracks rumor.

Men from virtually every unit on the post are clamoring to get in on the "holiday-hop" as it has become known to the 17,000 men of this sprawling army post. All they need is the furlough—being granted to 50 per cent of the post's personnel—and cash for the round trip ticket.

Some planes have been chartered from as far away as Los Angeles.

BULLITT RETURNS

Washington, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Former Ambassador William C. Bullitt is back from an inspection trip to China.

Bullitt arrived here last night after surveying the relief situation in the far eastern country at the suggestion of Senator Bridges (R-NH), chairman of the senate-house ECA "watchdog" committee.

"I shall make my report to the committee when it wishes it," Bullitt said. "Until then I have no comment to make about the situation in China."

SPY PROBE

It seems entirely appropriate that the crucial evidence in the Whittaker Chambers investigation should have been kept in the same place that Mother Goose's pumpkin-eating Peter parked his wife. It wouldn't surprise us, in fact, to learn that Mr. Chambers also had a stable of white mice ready to be hitched to the pumpkin and, by a touch of magic, turned into an eight-cylinder coach with Cinderella at the wheel. It's that kind of a case.

What puzzles us is not so much the facts, which are bizarre enough, but the mental processes of the principal figures in the case.

Why did Mr. Chambers conceal the evidence so long? True, he tried to see President Roosevelt, and finally talked to Adolph Berle, then an assistant secretary of state. But apparently he did not take his microfilm evidence along with him. Maybe he fears Communist reprisal. But wouldn't he have been safer under war-time secrecy and voluntary censorship than he is now? Wouldn't his full disclosure have been more important during the war? Has he made a full disclosure even now?

And how about the feud between the Justice Department and the House Un-American Activities Committee? What's behind it? Who's covering up what?

First some Justice Department members said the Hiss-Chambers perjury inquiry lacked evidence. On the same day another member said the whole thing was "too hot" to discuss. The House committee really broke the thing open, and then the department went to work on it.

What does the committee think of Mr. Chambers, anyway? One member read a tribute to him into the record, praising him for his co-operation. Shortly afterward Rep. Richard Nixon, another member, objected to Mr. Chambers' being indicted now because it would spoil the chance of indicting others implicated, since the star witness would be a "convicted perjurer." Mr. Nixon may have misspoken or he may have been misquoted—although various reporters who heard him quoted him directly as saying "convicted." But the implication of doubt in Mr. Chambers' veracity remains.

Why, if it suspects that his testimony is perjured, does the committee want to go ahead with its investigation with such speed? Why, if they trust Mr. Chambers as much as their recorded tribute would indicate, do they fear a perjury indictment—which isn't a conviction. And why did the Justice Department try to suspend Congress' right of investigation if it thought Mr. Chambers was a perjurer?

Also, what's Alger Hiss, who, we seem to recall, was the negative pole in this charged-up affair when the sparks first started jumping?

Frank Annunzio Is Labor Job Favorite

Chicago, Dec. 16 — (AP) — Sources close to Gov.-Elect Adlai E. Stevenson said today that Frank Annunzio, Chicago CIO leader, is a cinch for appointment as director of the state department of labor.

If appointed, the 35-year old chairman of the state CIO political action committee would be the first CIO man to get the $8,000 a year state labor job.

The AFL is pushing Stephen M. Bailey, Chicago plumber, for the directorship.

The CIO supported Stevenson during the election campaign. The AFL Illinois federation of labor backed Republican Gov. Dwight H. Green. Stevenson associates said this fact alone makes Annunzio "a good guess."

Some sources said the AFL has been offered the assistant director's job, but the AFL would refuse it if the CIO gets the top job. The present director is Robert L. Gordon, AFL painter of Urbana, and assistant director is John Henneberger, CIO steelworker of Chicago.

Curious to See Geese, Two Youths Are Killed

Olney, Ill., Dec. 16—(AP) — Two Flora, Ill., youths who wanted a closer look at a flock of geese crossing over the airport crashed to their deaths yesterday a few minutes after they took off from Schilt field here in a two-place airplane.

The dead are James Richardson, 20, a navy veteran and the pilot, and Gene Wilcox, 21, a young army veteran. Several persons who watched the youths take off in Richardson's plane in pursuit of the geese saw the accident.

Willis Morgan, one of the witnesses, said the PT-23 plane climbed steeply and appeared to have stalled at about 800 feet. The youths flew in from Flora in separate planes and had been down only a short time before the geese were observed and they both climbed into Richardson's plane.

Santa Leered, so He's Hid Away from Public

Hatboro, Pa., Dec. 16—(AP)—The Hatboro Chamber of Commerce has banished Santa Claus from a place of glory on Main street to an inconspicuous spot behind a gasoline station.

The Chamber of Commerce explained yesterday that the Santa Claus figure was created in hopes of bringing cheer to the community's children and instilling the Christmas spirit in the hearts of the grownups.

The 15-foot replica of St. Nicholas was installed on Main street several days ago but the public reaction was one of horror and fright rather than joy.

It seems, the Chamber said, that Santa was slightly wide-eyed, had a "repulsive leer" and a nose that "looked like a hot water bottle."

Cedar Rapids Murder Baffling to Police

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Dec. 16—(AP)—Police today hunted the slayer of Byron C. Hattman, 29, an aircraft armament expert from St. Louis, whose body was found in a blood-spattered seventh-floor hotel room yesterday. There was evidence of a terrific struggle.

Police detective Tom Condon said police were alerted to be on the lookout for suspicious persons who showed evidence they might have been involved in recent heavy fighting. He said:

"We are certain that the assailant or assailants responsible for the murder could not have escaped without some such injuries as black eyes, deep facial cuts and banged-up knuckles."

Coroner Robert Brosh said Hattman was killed by a powerful stab thrust which broke his seventh rib and pierced his heart. Police theorized there may have been two attackers. Hattman was 6 feet two inches tall and weighed 200 pounds.

CARS COLLIDE
A collision between cars driven by the Rev. Harvey S. Kline, Franklin Grove, and Mrs. Willard Friel, Amboy, in the 400 block of West First street was reported to police yesterday. Damage to both cars was minor.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh!
The Missus "Ducks" Out

Slim Hartman took his missus duck hunting the other day. And after five hours of sitting in a swamp, she'd had enough! Going home, Slim reminded her good-naturedly of the time she'd taken him to a woman novelist's lecture, and insisted that he sit it out.

So now the missus and Slim have an understanding. No more duck hunting for her—no more lectures for him. They decided each to his own taste.

It's because they can agree to disagree like that, I think, that Slim and the missus get on so well—content to stay home nights together, enjoying one another's company over a glass of beer and a game of chess.

From where I sit, we can't all enjoy the same things—but we can share those little pleasures that we do enjoy—a glass of beer, a game of chess, some music on the radio—and live-and-let-live when it comes to the others.

JULIA'S STORY: "Julia" tells Durand her name is really Bonny Carline. She traveled the river boats as partner of a crooked gambler. On that fateful trip, the real Julia had an affair with her, confided that she was on her way to marry, night unseen, a man worth $100,000. The gambler, learning about it, did away with Julia, forced Bonny to take her place. After traveling Durand, Bonny tried to back out of the arrangement, but the gambler threatened her, so Bonny fled (with Durand's money). At the end of her recital, Bonny sings herself into Durand's arms. He made it impossible to resist her.

XXIX
A SOUND at the door awoke Durand. It was a delicate sort of tapping, a cooing pit-pat, as if with one fingernail.

As his eyes opened he found himself in a room he had difficulty recalling from the night before. The cooling silvery-green of low-burning lights was no longer there. Ladders of fuming Gulf Coast sunlight came slanting through the slits of the blinds.

He thought he was alone at first. He backed a hand to his drugged eyes, to keep out some of the over-acute brilliancy. "Where am I?"

Then he saw her. Her cloverleaf mouth smiled back at him, indirectly, via the surface of the mirror she sat before. "With me," she answered. "Where you belong."

The stuttering little tap came again. There was something coy about it that irritated him. He turned his head and frowned over that way. "Who's that?" he asked sternly, but of her, not the door.

She shaped her mouth to a soundless symbol of laughter; then she stilled it further, though it hadn't come at all, by spoking her fingers over it, fanwise. "A suitor, I'm afraid. The colonel. I know him by his tap."

Durand, his face growing blacker by the minute, was at the bedside now, struggling into trousers with a sort of convulsing leap, to find

The tapping had accosted them a third time.

"It's Harry, my dear," came through the door. "Am I too early? You know I'll wait all morning for you, if necessary. To wait outside your door for you to come out is pleasantest thing I know of."

The door sliced back and the colonel found himself confronted by Durand, feet unshod, hair awry, and in nothing but trousers and undershirt.

He gave a strangled exclamation, like a winded grunt. Followed by a convulsive swallowing. "Unh—? Anh—? Unh?"

"Well, sir?" Durand rapped out. "And what brings you to my wife's door, may I ask?"

"I—I didn't know!" Worth managed to gasp out asthmatically.

"You do now, sir!" Durand said severely.

And the door closed on the colonel's stupefaction.

ARMS close-knit about one another's waists, leaning almost avidly from the open window of her room, stammering in unison with laughter, they watched the streaming debacle of the colonel's luggage, poured forth from under the veranda shed, followed by its owner's hurried, trotting departure.

"Oh, dear!" she exhaled, breathless. "That man!"

"We'll have to go soon ourselves," he reminded her.

"Why?" she asked as they turned back into the room. Then thinking she had found the answer for herself, gave it to him without waiting. "Oh, because of what's happened. Yes, it's true; I was seen with him constantly all these past—"

"No," he said. "That isn't what I meant. It's that—business on the boat. I told you last night, I went Louis, and so far as I know, he's still engaged upon it."

"He has no police power, has he?" she asked with quick, brittle interest.

"Not so far as I know. I don't know what he can do or can't do, and I've no wish to find out. The police in New Orleans told me you were immune, but that was at that time, before he took hand in it. Your immunity may expire from one minute to the next, when you least expect it, while he's still around and about. Don't you see, we can't go back to New Orleans now."

"No," she agreed without emotion. "We can't."

"And it's better for us not to linger here too long either. Word travels quickly. You cannot help drawing the admiration of all eyes wherever you appear. You're no drab wallflower. Besides, my own presence here is well known; I made no secret I was coming here, and they'd know where to reach me."

She raised her hand and snapped her fingers close before her face. "Very well, we'll go," she said gaily. "We'll be on our way before the sun goes down. Where shall it be? You name it."

"What about Mobile or Birmingham; those are large enough towns to lose ourselves in."

She made her choice with a pert little nod. "Mobile for now. I'll begin to pack at once."

She stopped again in a moment, holding some article in her hands, and drew close to him once more. "How different this is from last night. Do you remember? Then it was an arrest. Now it is a honeymoon."

She crept into his arms, looked up at him, her very soul in her eyes. "Do you forgive? Do you take me back?"

"I never met you before last night. There is no past. This is our real wedding day."

"My Lou," she sobbed ecstatically.

"My Lou!"

"Careful, there," she warned, with finger upright to his lips. "My Bonny."

Two Tons of Coal Per Minute Mined By a New Machine

One Continuous Operation Does Amazing Job in Pennsylvania Mine

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 16—(AP)—A revolutionary continuous mining machine—designed to dig coal at the rate of two tons a minute—is busily ripping out bituminous in a nearby commercial operation.

The $50,000 machine was developed by the Joy Manufacturing Co., and purchased by the Pittsburgh Coal Co. It was given a public unveiling yesterday in a mine near here. Seven other machines are in use elsewhere.

Is "Continuous Miner" The Joy continuous miner substitutes one continuous operation for the usual cutting, drilling, blasting and loading activities. It works like this:

The 34-inch high, 25½-foot long machine has a ripper bar, or head, at the front which tears coal upward from the working face and discharges it into a conveyor on the machine's back. The coal is carried to a hopper car in the rear and then to shuttle cars. The machine is mounted on caterpillar treads and can turn to the right or left. The ripper bar and the rear conveyor each swing in a 45 degree arc so the machine can mine around a corner.

A company statement said the machine "is suitable for mining coal in most of the coal seams which today may be mined by established mechanical methods."

Have Different Models

Different sized models allow the device to be used in seams of varying thickness. The 34 inch model operates in seams from 40 to 60 inches while the 48-inch high machine is adapted to seams from 54 to 96 inches in thickness.

The Joy continuous miner is the second such machine to be displayed publicly in recent months. Last October, the Sunnyhill Coal Co. of Pittsburgh, gave a demonstration of a continuous miner in a strip operation near Columbus, O. That machine, called the Colmol, operated on a boring principle, instead of an upward ripping motion. Its backers say it can mine more coal in an hour than a normal crew of a dozen or so miners can dig in a day.

Homemade soups made with meat or fish stock should be simmered, rather than boiled. Barley, rice, and noodles, if used, should be added toward the end of the cooking. Use the tops of celery and a few springs of parsley for good flavor.

Chicago Doctor Heads Up Cancer Research

Oak Ridge, Tenn., Dec. 16—(AP)—Dr. Marshall Bruer, university of Texas physiology professor, becomes director Jan. 1 of the cancer research program of the Oak Ridge Institute of nuclear studies.

A native of Chicago, Dr. Bruer was named chairman of the institute's medical division yesterday and will direct its research into the treatment of cancer and other malignant diseases.

Radioactive isotopes from the atomic ovens here will be used in the institute's cancer study. Dr. Bruer, a graduate of Northwestern university and the University of Chicago, was an army surgeon during World War II.

His wife is the former Patricia Levengood of Quincy, Ill. They have a son, John Marshall Bruer, 5.

Christmas Seal Contributions Being Received

Christmas Seal contributions are now being received at the office of the Lee County Tuberculosis association. It is most gratifying that so many persons mailed their returns promptly. The quota was set on the basis of actual need which represents the minimum sum necessary to carry on in 1949 the work of the association which has as its ultimate goal the eradication of tuberculosis in our community.

The work of the Tuberculosis association depends upon the support it receives from the people in the community, who buy and use Christmas seals. Since the health program of the association in Lee county benefits every man, woman and child in the county, the association likes to feel that every resident has had a part in supporting it regardless of how small his contribution may be.

All the freshmen, seniors and any newcomers in the high schools throughout the county will have had an opportunity to have the tuberculosis test sometime during the school year. This service which includes in addition to skin test, a chest x-ray for every positive reactor and an examination by a chest specialist if indicated is free of cost to every student or parent.

A program of routine hospital admission chest x-rays of all patients and employees is being launched in the Katherine Shaw Bethel hospital by the association. All of these services are financed by the sale of Christmas seals. If you have not already made your contribution, you are urged to do so at once.

In the past the association has been grateful to the people for their response to the annual appeal for funds and assurance is given that the Tuberculosis association will keep faith with them by making the best possible use of every dollar contributed.

It is not too late to send your contribution.

No Longer Necessary for Farmer To Outshout Storm to Be Heard

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

TIME MEANS MONEY—particularly on the farm. And here's one way to save time—an inter-communication system in action.

make themselves heard above the elements during those shouted barn-to-house conversations are in for a pleasant surprise. Agricultural engineers have been eavesdropping on these farm problems. What's more, they have done something about them.

Out of the laboratories has come electrical communications equipment that makes two-way conversation possible between the house and any part of the farm where connecting speaker stations are located.

The basic system consists of a master station and one speaker. However, four speakers may be used, and they can be placed inside any of the farm buildings or at convenient outdoor locations on the farmstead. Ordinarily it is not even necessary to stop work to converse over the system, for voices can be picked up and transmitted from a distance of thirty feet from the speaker installation.

Another advantage in the use of the system is that farm women can leave sleeping children in their rooms and go about their work, indoors and out, without worrying over their welfare. The speaker is so sensitive that even the very slight noise made by an infant in breathing can be transmitted from the nursery to any place on the farm where a master station is located.

Power for the system—a step and time saver if ever there was one—is supplied through an ordinary house lighting circuit.

Commissions Open In National Guard

New, easier methods of obtaining second lieutenants' commissions in the Illinois National Guard have been outlined by Capt. Robert Bovey of Hq. & Hq. Co., 129 Infantry here.

Bovey said former World War II officers and non-commissioned officers of the first three grades may be appointed National Guard officers, the former if they meet in grade requirements and the latter if they are under 32 years old.

Guardsmen who complete a minimum of one year of service, are between 21 and 32 years old and successfully complete the 10 series of army extension courses, may also be appointed second lieutenants, providing vacancies exist. An enlisted man with at least six months of wartime service in the armed forces, not over 28 years old and graduates of accredited colleges or universities may be commissioned providing the institution did not offer an advanced ROTC course or the academic period did not permit the finishing of such a course.

Capt. Bovey said Hq. Co. now has three officers but the need is still great for additional seasoned soldiers to assist in training the rapidly expanding company.

Those interested in joining Hq. Co., should apply to Sgts. Woodruff or Bond at the armory between the hours of 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. Applicants may also report to the regular training period, held from 7 to 9.30 p. m. each Monday.

Cass Farm Group Hits Price Support Scale

Virginia, Ill., Dec. 16.—(AP)—The Cass county farm bureau is on record as opposed to the sliding scale of price supports which goes into effect Jan. 1, 1950.

At its annual meeting yesterday, the bureau adopted a resolution calling for continuation of the present 90 per cent of parity price supports for certain basic farm commodities.

The flexible support farm price law was passed by the 80th congress and was backed by the Illinois Agricultural Association of which the Cass Farm Bureau is a part.

County farm leaders said they believed the Cass Farm Bureau's action was the first in the state to oppose the IAA's policy in the matter.

Mind Own Business, Hungary Tells U. S.

Budapest, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Hungary has told the U. S. state department to "mind its own business."

The remark was contained in a Hungarian rejection of an American protest against seizure of American-owned oil properties. The note was made public yesterday.

The U. S. note charged two American employees of a Hungarian subsidiary of the Standard Oil company (N. J.) were forced by Hungarian police to sign "confessions" that they sabotaged oil production. The state department

Defense System in Need of Revisions; Hoover Commission

Six-Point Program Is Suggested to Hold Dollar Outlays

Washington, Dec. 16—(AP)—This country's national defense system is "enormously" costly and its machinery needs overhauling, a Hoover commission "task force" reported today.

A 211-page critique said the unified military establishment set up by law last year "is, on the whole, soundly constructed, but is not yet working well."

A 14-member advisory committee to the commission on organization of the executive branch of the government, headed by former President Herbert Hoover, cautioned that Russian strategy may be to keep American defense costs mounting in an effort to gain "victory by bankruptcy."

The committee recommended this six point program to hold dollar outlays within bounds and improve the operations of the security set-up:

1. Give the secretary of defense more direct control over the three armed forces because his present "difficulties lie in vague authority."
2. Take steps to assure a "fuller measure of teamwork among the offices and services which comprise the national military establishment and the top-level national security organization"
3. Overhaul the military budget system because the "military services are far too prodigal with government funds."
4. Relate scientific research more closely to strategic planning.
5. Speed up plans for civilian mobilization in case of war, including economic, industrial and manpower mobilization. In another section, the committee said the condition of the nation's stockpile of strategic materials needed for a war is "deplorable."
6. Make adequate provision for use of and protection against "unconventional means of warfare." This includes "not only the atom bomb, but the other radiological and biological and chemical weapons that have appeared, definitely and terribly, upon the horizon of warfare."

(Forrestal yesterday announced the creation of a joint chiefs-research board group on weapons evaluation).

5. Speed up plans for civilian mobilization in case of war, including economic, industrial and manpower mobilization. In another section, the committee said the condition of the nation's stockpile of strategic materials needed for a war is "deplorable."

6. Make adequate provision for use of and protection against "unconventional means of warfare." This includes "not only the atom bomb, but the other radiological and biological and chemical weapons that have appeared, definitely and terribly, upon the horizon of warfare."

SKELETONS EXPOSED

The committee exposed some skeletons in the military's closet. In discussing "disturbing inadequacies in our intelligence system," the committee disclosed:

"In the spring of 1948, a mistaken intelligence estimate, prepared by a department intelligence agency, stimulated recommendations—which if followed—might well have had serious consequences. Fortunately, in this instance, the central intelligence agency and other intelligence groups correctly evaluated the available information in good time."

Neither the incident nor the identity of the particular intelligence agency—whether one of the three military services or from a non-military department—was disclosed.

'Dead' Baby Comes to Life in Funeral Home

Cairo, Ill., Dec. 16—(AP)—A new born baby was believed dead, then found breathing in a funeral establishment yesterday. But its parents' hopes, reborn by what the father called "a miracle," were shattered by the baby's death before the day ended.

Mrs. Kloron Stevens, 38, of Mound City, gave birth to her third son in the St. Mary's infirmary here about 4 a. m. but it was believed lifeless.

More than two hours later, a Mound City undertaker, Ray E. Gunn, found the baby alive on a table in his establishment. He returned it to the hospital where it survived until 5 p. m.

BOB THOMAS in HOLLYWOOD

Hollywood, Dec. 16—(AP)—Stunned by being nominated by the Hollywood women's press club as an "uncooperative actress," Shirley Temple answers: "I've been in this business for 17 years and I like everything about it—not just the acting. And I want people in it to like me. "I like to meet the press. During my lay-off period—when an actor doesn't have to give interviews—I was doing three interviews a day. I tried to cooperate." Shirley said on the "Mr. Belvedere" set that she has wired the club, asking to appear before it to answer any accusations. She has received no answer. "I do hope the club will let me come and talk to the members and find out who and how I offended. If they don't, then I can only suspect that there is no basis for their complaints. "It must be a misunderstanding, because I've always granted any interview I've been told about." And there in the above quote may be the source of the controversy. Some producers and their praise agents "protect" their stars by turning down interview requests unbeknownst to the players. That may be why the lady scribbles are peeved at Shirley.

4-H Club Members Planning Dinner

On Monday evening, a 4-H committee, representing the 4-H Federation, including Wilbur Ransom, Evelyn Hoelzer, Helene Adams and Delbert Schafer met with the assistant home advisor, Mrs. Barbara Herlin Nicholson, and assistant farm advisor, James Somers, to make plans for a party honoring the "departing" 4-H members who are 21 years of age or who will be 21 by July 1, 1949, also the leaders and junior leaders and their wives or husbands, of both boys and girls clubs who served so well during the past year. The committee decided to have a buffet dinner at 7:30 Thursday evening, Dec. 30. The meat will be furnished but those attending are being asked to bring a covered dish, since the burden of feeding everyone, if left entirely to those on the federation committee would be too great. After the dinner O. F. Gaebe, 4-H extension specialist from the University of Illinois will talk on the 4-H program and accomplishments in Illinois.

Travel Letters to Evening Telegraph By Its Publisher

Mrs. E. E. Shaw Writes of Europe and Her Observations on Tour

Montreux, Switzerland.

My Dear Family:
We are about to leave Montreux, truly an incomparable city and one of the beauty spots of the whole world. While waiting for the motor car I will try and tell you a little more of what we saw on our drive this morning. I wrote you briefly last evening. I am sitting out on the balcony off our room which is up several stories. Above and below the balconies stretch the length of the building of the Hotel Excelsior which is a block long. Also across this distance are flower boxes. In places there are three, one above the other. On some of the balcony rails are ornamental urns with scarlet flowers. I look on down to see fountains with trickling water spreading its dainty spray. I look again at the formal beds of pink begonias (they are small and even plants making a solid mass). Another bed shows masses of violet backed by a screen of rose trees of the pink variety. The rose tree is much used in all these countries. They grow to a height of four or five feet.

I still have visions of a low stone wall the top of which is a continuous covering in a short stem flower of gold.

There are more, many more, but you are already tired so I will close by saying the gay settees, chairs, umbrellas, magnolias and weeping willows complete the ensemble, if you include the blue lake and snow capped Swiss Alps. 'Tis all unsurpassed in beauty.

The city of Montreux is a little larger than Dixon, 18,000. During the tourist season it reaches 35,000. Many Americans spend their winters in Montreux. The climate being grand for health. The air is clear, the sun is warm and bright and the snow capped mountains are seen at their best in winter it seems.

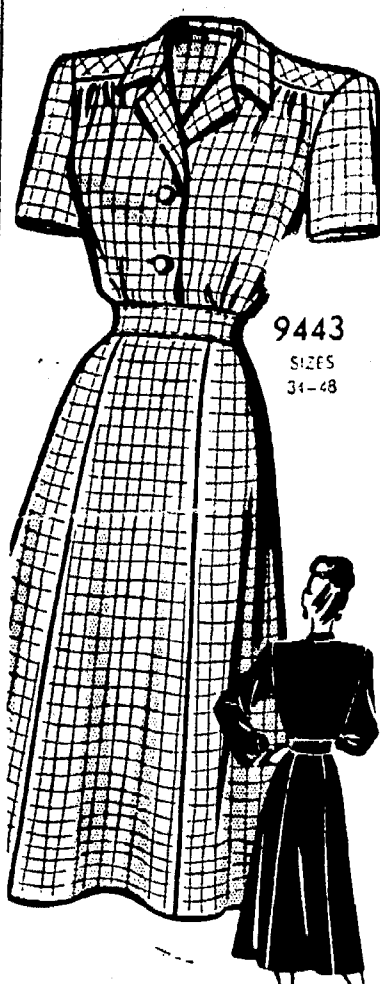

The food and service in Swiss hotels may be duplicated but never excelled. Breakfast is simple, perhaps too much so for Americans. It is always and ever coffee, cold rolls, butter and marmalade. Now and then we would make a request for oatmeal, porridge, they call it here.

Rooms are always large and invariably well furnished with oriental rugs, etc. There are always pillows elevated by bolsters and a light puff covers the bed. Shoes usually are just out side your room put there by the maid to be polished and ready for the morning. Boots they call them, not shoes.

You cannot get a quick meal. Hurry up lunches or dinner are unknown. The setting arrangement of the table must be just so. The waiters, always men, are very particular how the meal is served. There are always four or five courses and each one must be taken care of in the proper way. Serving a meal is a ceremony with them. Emily Post would approve heartily I am sure. You end your dinner by asking for coffee. They politely tell you that it is always served in the lounge by the maid.

You admire the Swiss, they are so thrifty. They waste nothing not even the twigs that fall from the trees. They are picked up, tied in branches and piled under shelter.

Our drive took us by many houses some were castles owned by Americans and many were home owned. The Swiss chalets were beautiful too their beauty enhanced by gay flowers and beautiful flower gardens and lawns.

And so we come to the end of a perfect day in Montreux. Again with great love.

French Demolish Towers of Soviet Radio in Berlin

They Were a Menace To Allied Airlift; Station
Hit England

Berlin, Dec. 16—(AP)—The French today blew up the towers of the Soviet-controlled radio Berlin, knocked the station off the air. The Russians, however, have another tower outlet, Germany's old Deutschland sender, 20 miles east of the city.

Brig. Gen. Jean Ganeval, French military commander in Berlin, said the two towers were demolished by French forces this morning. The radio was not on the air at the time.

Ganeval said he was compelled to destroy the towers because they were "a very great danger" to allied airlift planes coming in by radar to the new Tegel field in the French sector. The towers were near the field.

Notified Russians
The French commander said he had notified the Berlin station management on Nov. 20 that the demolition would take place today in order to allow the management time to arrange new installations in another sector. He said the demolition took place without incident.

German postal authorities said the French not only blew up the radio towers, but also the control installations for the towers.

Demolishing the towers climaxed a long-four-power dispute over radio Berlin. The radio station itself is located in the British sector. The Russians have successfully resisted British efforts to force them from the station, which they took over when Berlin fell.

When the western powers came to Berlin the Russians insisted they retain control of the radio station, saying it was their only broadcast outlet to the Soviet zone.

The Russians posted armed soldiers at entrances to the building and no one was allowed in without a special pass.

As the east-west position worsened in Berlin the British were urged by the other western powers to take over the station which broadcast long tirades against the western allies.

Retaliation Feared
The British did not take action because of the danger of an incident involving British and Soviet troops.

It also was felt the Russians might retaliate by cutting off all cable communication between Berlin and the Soviet zone.

Today's French action came as a surprise to many, although the French communique said Berlin radio had been warned in advance.

In his statement Ganeval said that since Tegel airfield began operating at full capacity under the airlift planes have been coming and going under all weather conditions.

"Now radar is working," Ganeval said. "But since the planes are flying without visibility, the two large towers of radio Berlin which stand in the immediate vicinity constitute a very great danger for allied planes. I could no longer accept responsibility for possible accidents. Consequently I executed today a decision taken some time ago to demolish the towers."

TEAPOT DOME SCANDAL

Washington Court House, O., Dec. 16—(AP)—Mal S. Daugherty, the Washington Court House banker who figured in the Teapot Dome scandal, died last night. He was 86.

The aged banker had been seriously ill for several weeks. He was the brother of Harry M. Daugherty, U. S. attorney general in the administration of President Warren G. Harding.

Oregon Hopes to Top Community Chest Fund Quota

(Telegraph Special Service)
Oregon—John F. Hayden, general chairman of the Oregon Community Chest drive for 1949 funds, expresses good prospects for topping the goal of $1800 for Oregon. This is the second year of the Oregon Community Chest operations. It makes only one drive for funds for all participating charities and distributes the funds fairly and justly as investigation shows the need.

The drive in the business section was under Emil Weyrauch and is now completed. Mrs. John Colson, drive chairman in the residential district, reports her work near completion. Joseph C. Reed is in charge of the drive in the manufacturing plants. His work is incomplete but he hopes to complete the drive in the plants this week. Mr. Hayden hopes to have all his reports and collections in very soon for a final tabulation.

The Community Chest has been highly praised for centering all drives for funds into one campaign and saving bother to housewives and businessmen for so many solicitors. Many unworthy demands have been discouraged by the organized plan.

Business men and manufacturers and their employees are the heaviest groups of contributors and a good share of their gifts are retained in the city for local needs, by efficient and fair distribution of the funds raised.

The officers and board members of the Community Chest are as follows: A. W. Bass, president; Clarence Anderson, vice president; Wayne Bettner, secretary-treasurer; directors: John F. Hayden, representing the Oregon Rotary club; Frank Nye, representing the V.F.W.; Harry Franklin, representing the American Legion; Mrs. Fred Deuth, representing the Oregon Woman's club; Mrs. John Colson, representing the Woman's Relief Corps; Mrs. Leslie Remour, representing the V.F.W. Auxiliary; Mrs. Anna Wade, representing the American Legion Auxiliary; John Basler, representing labor; Joseph C. Reed, representing the manufacturers.

Members of the board hope that in the future years, house to house drives will not have to be made, out that all citizens will bring in or mail their contribu-

Thirty-three Penney Workers Get Bonuses

The board of directors of the J. C. Penney company have authorized a special payment of an amount to two weeks' pay, for all full-time associates who have been employed for the full year of 1948 and on a proportionate basis for extra and part-time associates and for those employed less than a year.

All Penney associates throughout the company share in this payment except those who are members of the management staff and whose earnings are determined largely by the Company's long-standing profit-sharing plan.

Mr. E. H. Miller, manager of the J. C. Penney company store, said that more than 50,000 Penney associates all over the United States will participate in this payment, including 33 of the Dixon store. He further emphasized that this was not a Christmas bonus in the usual sense and was non-recurring. It was authorized in recognition of the unusual business and economic conditions existing today.

The Company some years ago substituted a Thrift and Profit-Sharing Plan for the more usual Christmas bonus and into this plan is annually paid a proportionate share of Company earnings. The current extra payment, just announced, is additional to these thrift and profit-sharing benefits.

U. S. Warns Planes, Ships Off Eniwetok

Washington, Dec. 16—(AP) — The United States soon will issue a new warning to ships and airplanes to stay far away from its Eniwetok atomic weapons proving grounds.

The present "keep out" order was issued about a year ago, prior to the tests of three atomic weapons last spring. It was worded to cover only the calendar year 1948 and thus expires at midnight, December 31. An atomic energy commission spokesman said that while the new order has not yet been drafted it undoubtedly will be prepared within the next few days.

Eniwetok is in the Marshall Island group, about 200 miles west and south of Bikini, where the 1946 "operation crossroads" tests or two bombs against naval vessels were conducted.

In early times, whales stranded on shore in England and Scotland were the property of the crown.

Mrs. Houlihan Wants Teeth for Christmas

Chicago, Dec. 16—(AP) — All Mrs. Marie Houlihan, 46, waits for Christmas, she whispered to Superior Judge Joseph Sabath, is her false teeth.

She appeared in court yesterday with her attorneys seeking Judge Sabath's aid.

The dentures disappeared on Dec. 3, the attorneys said, and Mrs. Houlihan has been losing weight. She also is displeased at the prospect of not being able to eat turkey, candy, and nuts on Christmas.

Judge Sabath ordered Mrs. Houlihan's husband, John, 48, against whom she has a divorce bill pending, to produce the teeth if he has them. He is in the Cook county jail working out a $50 fine for breaking into Mrs. Houlihan's home.

William Milota, jail superintendent, said Houlihan thought he could find them if he could get out of jail to make a search. Now the attorneys said they would try to get him out long enough to look for Mrs. Houlihan's teeth.

Blood Marked Club is Found in Guam Murder

Guam Dec. 16—(AP) — Navy investigators said today a blood-marked club has been found near the jungle spot where pretty Ruth Farnsworth was raped and fatally beaten.

Guam authorities expressed belief the weapon was used to subdue the 27-year-old San Francisco girl as she struggled with several assailants Saturday night. She was found unconscious and partly clothed and died Tuesday in a hospital.

Miss Farnsworth, a navy civil service employee, worked night at a curio shop from which she was abducted and taken into the jungle 200 yards away.

Promises To Marry 28 Women, Lands in Jail

The 28 fair victims turned up for his trial in a Berlin court. They tried to pummel him with

Business Leaders Ask No Government Grief

New York, Dec. 16—(AP)—The threat of another cold war is in the news today—a cold war between business and government. But leaders of both are hoping to stop it before it warms up.

For one thing, they realize that such a struggle would aid no one but the Russians, who would regard any economic upset here as a great victory for them in their cold war with the United States.

Emil Schram, president of the New York stock exchange, warns against a fight between business and government. The consequences of such a cold war, he tells the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, meeting here, "may be disastrous." He urges both forces to try teamwork to bring about a "stable prosperity, an unanswerable argument to the claims of the foes of democratic capitalism."

The court sentenced Heitmann to five years imprisonment.

TO THE INDEPENDENT GROCERS OF AMERICA AND ESPECIALLY TO THOSE OF THIS COMMUNITY WHO DON'T TAKE ORDERS FROM WALL STREET, or have to wait for orders from big shots to tell them what to do, who have at times tied up markets so others could not get merchandise or held prices up at times. The Independent Merchant (99% of them) has had it in his heart to do everything possible to serve his community the best he can and save the public money.

During the war years the Independent Merchant tried to dole out to every one the right proportions and help every one he could. The shortage during the war in foodstuffs were made mostly by the commentators saying this or that was going to be short. We don't need commentators, radio broadcasts and a lot of ballyhoo to tell of price reductions to get people to come in our places of business. When a drop of price in merchandise comes, we drop our prices and advertise it. We give merchandise away many times, but don't have to sell chances or give out coupons. People have to pay for this anyway. We don't need FREE advertising to sell our wares.

RHEUMATISM, arthritis are dreadful diseases. Acid condition in the blood is often their cause. What could be the remedy? For thousands of years, minerals have been used to relieve the pain and suffering of these ills. People, on the advice of their doctors, go to mineral springs to find cure, or relief. The late President Roosevelt used to go to Warm Springs in Georgia. He was helped or would not have gone there twice a year.

Wonder Minerals

YEAR after year, people rush to mineral springs, and spas, to drink and bathe in their miraculous waters. We have all heard of the wonderful springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thionin in ancient Greece where, according to legend, Hercules, the god of strength and youth, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.

Portrait of a Man's Thoughts After He's Had a Heart Attack

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, Dec. 16—(AP)—The heart is a time-bomb. You carry it around in your chest. On still nights, in the dark, you can hear it ticking away. Then one day—if you're one of about 30 per cent on the people—it seems to explode.

THE NO. 1 KILER
Maybe there's only a dull pain, or maybe it's a blinding pain, and then death, or long months of lying quietly in bed.

Last night the public health service said heart disease is still the No. 1 killer, that 460,000 people died of it last year.

For years, as I've grown older, I've wondered how a man feels who's had a heart attack and recovered.

I've wondered what it did to him and his thinking about himself.

Then I found a man who had such an attack, a man of 44 who had been extremely active physically, one of my closest friends.

He told me how it had been for a couple of nights before:

There was a terrible feeling, like indigestion, not a sharp pain, just a dull feeling that sent him to the doctor.

The doctor took a cardiogram, a check on the heart. My friend asked him, dead-pan, when it was over:

"Well, what's the score?"

"It's a heart attack," the doctor said.

"How much time do I have?" my friend asked him.

"I don't know," the doctor said. "You may live 10 years, maybe 20, maybe till 65. I can't tell how your arteries are."

It was a terrible shock. I guess my friend had thought his arteries would be all right till he was 100. Anyone feels that way, I guess.

My friend's attack was mild. He could sit up in a chair most of the time and read. He told me:

What's the Difference?
"I looked out the window, day after day, and my whole life went before me. I thought: Suppose I die today or tomorrow. What difference does it make?"

"I can't see where it makes much difference, except to my family. It wouldn't make much difference to me. I've lived my life. I know what being alive in the world is.

"I've tried to live it without hate or prejudice for any other human being. People to me have always been people. I've had no illusions about them. Some have been horrible. Some have been wonderful.

"I know that if enough of us act decently with all other human beings we may work out a civilized society. I think we can do that. I'm not sure we can.

"I've been married. I know what it means to subordinate some of your own ideas to someone else's so there can be peace within a home, at least.

"I've had children. I hope I've done a good job with them. I'll never know for sure, because they will live longer than I.

"I can't solve anything myself. All I can do is contribute to the things I believe in. If I die tomorrow, or 30 years from now, that's all I can do.

"I know if I die today, I leave a job unfinished. I hand it to my children, just as my parents and my grandparents handed it on to me. I think it will be like that for a long, long time."

New York, Dec. 16—(AP)—Radio's changing scene, changing more than usual at the year end, includes these additional developments, all on CBS:

"Sing It Again," super quiz, will not move to Wednesdays, as had been announced, but will stay on Saturdays. It will take a new time at 9, two hours later than at present, on Christmas night. It leaves the 7 o'clock hour because Gene Autry is coming in at 7:30 from 6 p. m. Sundays, the future Jack Benny time.

The National Guard military ball is to take over 7 p. m., the next two weeks. A previously announced Saturday change moves Gang Busters from ABC, to continue at 8 o'clock.

Mr. and Jane Ace, who end their Friday night series at 7:30 December 31, have decided to take a vacation until the third week in January. They expect to return under network auspices, probably with a Tuesday night series. Their sponsor replacement is definite as My Favorite Husband, effective January 7.

Pre-Christmas schedule: Tonight—MBS 9:30 John Brown University Choir from Siloam Springs, Ark. . . . Friday—MBS 2:45 p. m. Eavesdropping on Santa Claus, listening in as Santa interviews the kiddies.

Special added for tonight: ABC 8 from Toledo, O., Dinner for Sports Celebrities, with Harry Wismer as M.C., and guests, to include Lou Boudreau, Guy Lombardo and others.

Topics tonight (Thursday): NBC—7 Henry Aldrich Family; 8 Al Jolson Show; 8:30 Fibber and Molly with Dorothy Lamour; 9 Bob Hope in "Where There's Life."
